Kimberly Daniella First Year Blog

"In general, the past month has been very eventful. I've had so much support in this transition which I am extremely grateful for, and the love has been overwhelming in all the right ways.//To the new people I've met so far who haven't allowed me to go a single day without laughing since I got here, I wish all of you the best during this journey. I'm excited to see what we all accomplish in this first year and the few to come."
